HAPPENING THIS SUNDAY, MARCH 3

Communion music as we gather around the table

In response to this week's General Conference, please join us this Sunday, March 3 at 8:30 & 11 a.m. as we focus on unity around the Lord's Table. In lieu of a sermon, the Parish Men's Choir will present Messe "Cum Jubilo" by Maurice Duruflé at both worship services. The men will sing this mass setting within the context of the Service of Holy Communion. The work is based on the Gregorian plainchant Cum Jubilo and features a colorful, exuberant organ accompaniment.

General Conference Special Session information to be offered

At 9:40 a.m. in the Nave, information will be presented outlining the results of the General Conference Special Session. This meeting is intended for informational purposes and attendees will be encouraged to submit in writing questions they would like answered at a future meeting.

Youth Sunday school classes will attend this meeting with two exceptions: Confirmation class meets at their regular time and one alternative youth class will be available for those who prefer not to attend the meeting in the Nave. All children's Sunday School classes will meet at their regular times and locations. If you are scheduled to help in children's ministry, we still need you to do so. A recording of the meeting will be made available.

At 3:00 p.m. at Powell UMC (323 W. Emory Road, Powell), the TN Valley District will gather for worship and a debriefing from the delegation, which includes a video message.

CONVERSATIONS ON RACE

Upcoming Events

Meet the Author

Sunday, March 10, 5–7:00 p.m.

Conversations on Race is pleased to welcome Rev. Robert W. Lee as our speaker on Sunday, March 10 at 5:00 p.m. in the Parish Hall. He is the great-great-great-grand-nephew of General Robert E. Lee and has written a new book called A Sin by Any Other Name: Reckoning with Racism and the Heritage of the South which will be released soon. Longtime friends with Rev. Lee, Rev. Palmer Cantler was instrumental in arranging for him to speak at Church Street. Rev. Lee graduated from Duke Divinity School and after graduation began his ministry at Bethany United Church of Christ in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Realizing that this relative whom he had idolized had become “an idol of white supremacy...an idol of nationalism and of bigotry and of hate and of racism,” Rev. Lee began to speak out. After the events of Charlottesville, he spoke at the MTV awards, denouncing white supremacy and racism. He found that using his voice was unacceptable to some and dangerous for himself. His church, unaccustomed to such attention, asked him to resign. He is currently teaching at Appalachian State.

Rev. Lee has been interviewed on NPR’s All Things Considered and been a guest on ABC’s The View. His memoir tells of growing up in the South (as a Lee) and his front-row seat in the world of the white Christian majority. Rev. Lee shares how he comes to terms with his own awakening and understanding of racism and how power, privilege and position are all defined by the color of our skin. He will address how white Christians today continue to be complicit in a culture of racism and injustice. The book has been called a “love letter to the South, from the South, by a Lee but one that points the way toward change and renewal.”

As we work to dismantle institutionalized racism in our world and in our churches, it is both crucial and helpful to learn from others on this road. We encourage you to join us on March 10 and to invite friends and others who will be interested in hearing Rev. Lee’s journey. There will be a limited supply of pre-release copies of his book available at the program. All are welcome. Please contact Pat Bellingrath at patbellingrath@gmail.com if you will need a nursery.

Book Discussion (new date) Sunday, March 31, 5–6:30 p.m.

We will meet at Second United Methodist Church to discuss White Rage: The Unspoken Truth of Our Racial Divide by Carol Anderson. This academically challenging and spiritually and emotionally harrowing book is well worth your time. Celia Ferguson and Rev. Leah Burns will facilitate the discussion.

Postcards from the Persecuted

Three haunting faces gaze at us this very moment. What do these three have in common? They represent the staggering number of believers who are persecuted for their Christian faith across the globe: Saheb of Iran is being held for trial for promoting Christianity, which carries a 10-year sentence; Wasihun of Ethiopia watched as a Muslim mob murdered his father; Eti of Indonesia was sentenced to three years imprisonment for leading Sunday school classes for children.

Open Doors World Watch estimates that 215 million Christians face significant levels of persecution in our world today. They further reported that in 2018 alone, 3,066 Christians were killed, 2363 were abducted, 1,020 were raped, and 793 churches were attacked or demolished.

It is understandable that we are presently focused on the problems within our own denomination here at home; however, during this Season of Lent, let us also make time to peer outward, to consider our brothers and sisters in Christ who reside everyday in fear and terror, and to pray for God's protection and justice.

You are invited to join fellow Church Streeters in lifting up a daily prayer for particular persons who are suffering for their faith. This information is presented in the form of a postcard—one for each of the 47 days of Lent. Each card includes a photograph of an individual or group, a short theological reflection, and a prayer guide for each situation. Postcards from the Persecuted will be available around the church, beginning Sunday, March 3. Our Lenten prayers will be a major step in combating this pervasive evil. (Please, only one packet per family.)

—REV. JAN BUXTON WADE

Dawn Chesser for more information at 521-0279.

GROW WITH THESE LENTEN OPPORTUNITIES THIS SEASON

Lenten Countdown

I love mission work. I've been so happy to take part in different mission projects since our family has been at Church Street. Mission work is not only be an opportunity to help others but also to educate people about issues. Mission projects can be a chance to meet new people and to grow closer with friends or family as you serve.

In our community, there are many people who need help. This Lenten season, you will have an opportunity to meet needs of others by collecting items during the Lenten Countdown. The items will go to Beacon of Hope and the Sharing Shop.

The Lenten Box project is meant to help us understand the needs of others. The items requested are things that the people may need but may otherwise be unable to get. While SNAP benefits, also known as "food stamps," provide people with assistance, they do not cover things like toilet paper, cleaning supplies, and toiletries. Because of this, Beacon of Hope and the Sharing Shop have many requests for these types of products.

The Lenten Box is a project you can do with your entire family. It can bring you closer together as you work on your project. You will add items to the boxes each week and read together about how they can help meet the needs of others. It is a time for fellowship and togetherness.

Missions are important, fun, and educational. Don't just take my word for it, though. I hope you will put together a box for the Lenten Countdown and see for yourself!

—HANNAH BLAKE

Lenten Devotional Books

Look for our 2019 Lenten Devotional book coming soon with weekly/daily devotions written by members of the congregation. The Congregational Care Committee has been working hard in collecting, collating, editing all the devotions turned in so that the book will be ready by the beginning of Lent. Many thanks to Barry Christmas, chair of the Congregational Care Committee for coordinating this special project. The booklet will be out soon in the literature racks around the church. Be sure to take one for your family.

CHURCH WIDE RUMMAGE SALE

APRIL 5 & 6 | 8:00 AM - 2:00 PM | CHURCH STREET GYM

WE NEED YOUR HELP...

to support the ministries of our church! During the season of Lent, we are encouraging one another to practice the spiritual discipline of decluttering - ridding our homes and lives of things that distract us or cause us frustration in order to make room for growth in our faith.

Our hope is that this practice of tidying might be mutually beneficial - we remove the clutter from our homes and host a church-wide rummage sale whose proceeds will allow ministry to thrive at Church Street

CLERGY CORNER

Together, Let's Think About ... General Conference

As I write this on Monday morning, the Special called session of General Conference has convened for the day. Delegates from around the world gathered for prayer and worship before beginning the business portion with hopes that the Holy Spirit will continue to move in that space. However, the morning edition of Holston's General Conference pinged in my email mailbox with the subtitle "Anxiety is rising." The tension that many of us have borne looking towards General Conference feels even more burdensome now that we can actually live-stream the conference. It is difficult not to stake all our hopes on the speeches and votes of this group of very human delegates.

A clergy friend of mine this morning shared that she is limiting her consumption of the General Conference live stream and choosing to be grateful. This clergywoman has followed the preceding events closely, contacted her delegates, and reached out to support those closely affected by the decisions of this conference. Yet, now that General Conference is in full swing, she has chosen to step away from social media and focus on naming what she is grateful for.

Gratitude might seem trite. I've not been able to fully step away from the constant coverage, but I'm choosing to list 5 things I'm grateful for each time I find myself getting anxious.

If nothing else, it is helping me remember that Jesus is central to this entire process.

This morning, I am grateful for:

1. An incredible morning of worship from Children's Sunday
2. Waffle House breakfast with my clergy group
3. The smell of the winter candle on my desk
4. A home that did not flood
5. A job where I get to daily remind people that Jesus loves them and they are precious

What are you grateful for?

—REV. PALMER CANTLER

Director of Communications Change

Julie Hill, our Director of Communications, has decided to resign her full-time position. However, she is continuing to serve on a part-time basis through the end of April while we search for and employ a full-time Director. We are grateful for Julie's hard-working faithfulness in this position and for her willingness to help us transition into a new Director. Julie's limited responsibilities during this time will encompass continuing the production of the Messenger and bringing into place a new website for Church Street. Thank you for your prayers for Julie and for the best possible candidate for this full-time position.

Jubilation 2019

Mark your calendar, May 6–8, at Mainstay Suites in Pigeon Forge for Jubilation 2019. Bishop Ken Carder will be sharing stories of his experience of being a caregiver of his wife, Linda, as they live with her dementia; gain insights as to who God is in this journey; and ways our churches can become dementia-friendly.

Brochures with registration forms are available in the literature racks. Registration deadline: Friday, March 29.

A Call to Prayer and Self Denial Service

On Tuesday, March 12 at 11:00 a.m. in the Chapel, United Methodist Women invites all who wish to participate with us in this special service.

Our guest speaker will be Caryl Griffin Russell, MSN MDiv, who is an ordained elder of the Holston Conference. The message she will share is entitled: "The Healing Power of a Woman's Touch: Love in Times of Turmoil."

Caryl served at First Broad Street UMC in Kingsport and as the Director of the Wesley Leadership Institute, which provides continuing education for pastors and lay leaders in the Holston Conference. Caryl lost her daughter Beth in a laboratory accidental exposure to a monkey virus while Caryl was in seminary. Her daughter's preventable death led Caryl to working with people facing crises and end-of-life situations, finding hope and life in that journey because of her experience of God through the faith community during this dark hour in her life. She and her late husband, William C. Griffin, MD, established the Elizabeth R. Griffin Foundation and Caryl serves in the extension ministry of the Foundation, which reaches around the world. The foundation works with global leaders, the Gates Foundation, universities, the United Nations, and corporations addressing some of the world's most imminent threats to health security and seeking the development of effective, practical, and sustainable solutions to meet international standards of practice.

The offering collected during our service will support programming and advocacy for children by the United Methodist Women worldwide.

A luncheon will follow the service. Please contact the church office \(524-3048\) for lunch reservations by Friday, March 8. If childcare is needed, please contact Elaine Ralston, aralston1025@tds.net or 803-1637 by March 5.
