HAPPENING AT CHURCH STREET UMC

Paul, Prisons, and Faithful Witness in Our Time

The Methodist movement has always been actively involved in ministry with prisoners and advocating for humane prison conditions. In recent years people of all political backgrounds have recognized the issues arising from the staggering increase in incarceration rates spanning the last 50 years. State and federal prison populations have risen from just under 200,000 in 1972 to 1.56 million in 2014. Christians have deep resources in our faith to approach and discuss prisons, punishment, and justice. The Apostle Paul, who wrote many of his letters from prison and repeatedly referenced his "chains," talked about being a prisoner for Christ, and he is one significant resource.

In the course, we will look at the Letter to the Philippians, one of Paul's prison letters, and use it as a theological guide as we engage in a discussion about criminal justice systems. This study will also use Locked In: The True Causes of Mass Incarceration and How to Achieve Real Reform by John Pfaff. In a society that often reduces issues for political purposes, we will aim to expand the ways Christians understand incarceration and help all participants develop a faith-centered compassion for all who encounter criminal justice systems. Please contact Pastor Tim Best if you have any questions concerning this study. Purchase of the Pfaff book is not required, but highly recommended. ### Children and Youth Virtual Programming this Fall

CSUMC children and youth kicked off the new school year with two special meetings: children met our new pastors in small groups and our youth had their annual, but virtual, kick-off event! There are many Sunday opportunities for children and youth to connect this school year virtually each Sunday - all begin on September 13:

9 am: Breakfast with Ms. Katryn and Friends (K-5)

11-11:20 am: Kinder Choir for ages 3, 4, 5, Kindergarten

3:30 pm: Primary and Chorister Choirs for Children in grades 1-5

All are Welcome at Church Street!

We believe every person is of sacred worth and created in God's image. We welcome and celebrate the gifts God has given to all persons without regard to race, color, national origin, ethnicity, age, gender, disability, status, economic condition, sexual orientation, gender identity, or religious affiliation. We respect diversity of opinion and expressions of Christian faith. We believe God loves everyone unconditionally! As God loves us, so let us love and serve in the name of Christ.

Journeying Forward

Over the next few months, we will highlight portions of Unfinished Journey and its contents as it describes the journey of Church Street, its people, its challenges, and its successes and failures placed in the context of two centuries of American history. It is a journey far from completed, a story still in the process of being told. The tenth installment is below.

Parson Brownlow's strident battle with the Confederacy and his former Holston brethren

William Gannaway Brownlow (1805-1877) was a Holston Conference circuit rider for ten years before he married Elizabeth O'Brien. He quit his career in the traveling ministry and settled down in Elizabethton. His journalism career began there with the polemical Elizabethton Whig, 1839-1840. He had a unique, impassioned, and sharply abrasive style of writing and oratory. He was consistently pro-Union but was anti-slavery during his ministry. He became a slavery advocate in the pre-Civil War era, re-adopting his early anti-slavery position in 1861. This last change of heart occurred after he was arrested in Knoxville as a suspect in the bridge-burning.

He received national attention in an 1858 Philadelphia debate beginning with the following: "Not only will I throughout this discussion openly and boldly take the ground that Slavery, as it exists in America, ought to be perpetuated, but that slavery is an established and inevitable condition to human society. I will maintain the ground that God always intended the relation of master and slave to exist. ... and that slavery having existed ever since that first organization of society, it will exist to the end of time!"

But later, strongly Unionist and against the Confederacy, Brownlow was insistent that the Southern Methodist preachers inflamed the minds of Southern men and had a strong ethic of disloyalty to the Union. He further noted that he would feel "much more honored to be associated with a pack of professional gamblers, than with a conference of Methodist rebel preachers." He hated all MEC, South members and clergy.

Returning to Knoxville after the Union occupation in 1863, he offered these "kind words" using his characteristic rhetoric saying that the Knoxville Methodist, Baptist, and Presbyterian church buildings that had been confiscated by the Union troops would be used for "better purposes" if turned into grogshops selling mean corn whiskey for rebel money, than to be used to preach and pray such treason, blasphemy, and blackguardism, as have disgraced their walls and pulpits for the last three years. Brownlow became Governor of Tennessee in 1865.

New donations of $500 or more to the Building Fund made during the duration of 2020 will receive a complimentary signed copy of Unfinished Journey and will be recognized at the end of the calendar year for helping us as we move further along in this particular journey together to pay off our building project.
